

BE READY TO GO BY THE TIME THE BELL RINGS

Geneva Bider

Usually the hands that carve space out of void have a lot more wrinkles

But me and my friends don't fit neatly into their carvings and we don't have enough wrinkles to understand that carving away at our bodies until we fit will probably be easier so after school today me and my friends are going to go down to a place one of them knows and pick up some carving tools and give our queerness enough space to breathe.
